Dear Sir:

Thank you for your letter of May 19.

I fully accept the spirit in which you close and I assure you that I agree that there is much work to be done in attempting to bring the attention of the American people to the nature of the Warren Report so that the talents and energy of many may be well spent.

Better that our energy be consumed in that effort than in claiming credit for that which still remains undone.

In your letters you have pointed to no alleged inaccuracy regarding my analysis of the case or presentation of evidence. Should you, after reading the book, question any conclusion that I have drawn I should be indebted to you if you might call it to my attention.

Sincerely,

Mark Lane
